Ask me your doubts related to health & fitness..

suggest me some medicines for fever

I am not a doctor, but some common over-the-counter medicines that are often used to treat fever include acetaminophen (Tylenol) or ibuprofen (Advil, Motrin). However, it is important to consult with a healthcare professional before taking any medication, as they can provide personalized recommendations based on your individual health needs and any other medications you may be taking. If your fever is persistent or accompanied by other concerning symptoms, it is best to seek medical advice promptly.
